

Massachusetts Man Tells About Whale Hunting's Decrease

The whale industry of New Bedford, Mass., my native town, that rose and fell, then rose again, is rapidly slipping back," asserted C. R. Bridges, dealer in ship supplies of that place, at present at the annual convention of the one time New Bedford whalers could be found all over the world wherever the huge cetaceans were to be found. The ships were fitted out for a cruise of from three to five years and oftentimes one cruise was enough to make everyone concerned in it independently rich, according to the simpler and more wholesome standards of those days.

"With the rise of kerosene oil came the fall of the whaling industry; that and the change in style. When kerosene was the vogue, whalebone was in great demand for stiffening skirts. Then it fetched enormous prices. With the passing of the mode, made popular by Paris, and the coming of modern lighting, whaling that once was worth most of its weight in gold, became practically worthless.

"When war was declared, however, whale oil once more came into demand, and many an old captain came out of his retirement and again, he heard the cry, 'there she blows!' hauled that had rotted for years were refurbished and set out on the old familiar quest. It was like old days come back. Unfortunately it was only a brief respite. The demand for whale oil in the armistice, the demand for whale oil passed, too, probably never to be revived.

Wisconsin Official Surprised To See Palmists In City

"In strolling around the city I am surprised at the large number of palmists to be seen," remarked John T. Plummer, former district attorney of the Ninth judicial district of Wisconsin, at present at the Peabody hotel, "in Milwaukee this morning. They were giving me trouble. They were flitting money under various guises from the university and they were making use of suspicion between husband and wife by planting suspicions where there was absolutely no cause.

"In many cases, where money had been gained by underhand means, the victims were loath to prosecute as they were anxious to escape notoriety nor did they wish to advertise their credulity. This made conviction difficult. Finally it was determined to get rid of them altogether.

"Milwaukee has not had one of the second-sight gentry in the city for years. The result is that our people spend their money instead of basing it over to so-called 'seers.' There must be a tremendous profit in the game, however, for some years ago one of that gentry who maintained a palmistry parlor, offered a license of $500 a day to be allowed to run. The offer was refused.

Says Harding's Efforts Are Joint Debate With Self

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 10. (Sp.)—Senator Harding's efforts amount to nothing more than a joint debate with himself on the league of nations, Congressman B. G. Humphries, of Greenville, declared today in a speech in the manner in which Gov. Cox is carrying his fight to the Republicans, Congressman Humphries picked the Ohio senator as a hard one in trying to reconcile Wickham's stand with the state and Governor Harvey's opinion with Taft's.

Mr. Humphries stopped off in Jackson Wednesday en route to Meridian. He is raising funds for the national Democratic campaign and is forming committees in various counties looking toward that end.

Tries To Aid Lad; Dazed By Wealth

He was a 10-year-old lad bound from New Orleans to Nashville, but had missed his train. He wandered around the Union station all afternoon.

"Aren't you hungry?" asked one of the attendants late in the day.

"No, not very," was the reply.

"I know you must be," declared the kind-hearted attendant who knew boys. "Here, take this quarter and get yourself something to eat."

Thank you, says the polite reply, "but I have a little money," and he pulled out a purse that was soaked with $5, $10 and $20 bills more than the attendant had seen at one time for over a year.

He left late Thursday night with the money still in his possession and the attendant still a little dazed.

MEDICAL AUTHORITY BACKS MEDICAL CLAIMS FOR ZIRON IRON TONIC

Eminent Physicians Agree That Iron Is a Valuable Agent in Certain Forms of Disease.

ZIRON NOT A PATENT OR SECRET REMEDY

Many of the highest medical authorities agree that iron is a necessary constituent of the blood, and that blood lacking iron is the cause of many troubles that only iron will cure.

ZIRON, the compound iron preparation, is the remedy to take when your blood needs help, by reason of its lack of iron.

Among the eminent physicians who are in accord as to the need of the system for iron, under certain conditions of anemia, general weakness, etc., may be mentioned Dr. George F. Butler, A.M., Ph.D., M.D., formerly Professor and Head of the Department of Therapeutics, and Professor of Preventive and Clinical Medicine, of the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery. In his "Text Book of Materia Medica," Dr. Butler says of iron that it is "a valuable stomachic tonic," and that "its primary effect is to supply a deficiency of red corpuscles, and bring the hemoglobin up to its normal standard."

Dr. Finley Ellington, late Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics in Bennett Medical College, Chicago, in his book, "American Materia Medica," says: "By the improvement of the blood and the increased supply of oxygen to the tissues, occasioned by the administration of iron when this agent is deficient, the nervous system is directly influenced in a most favorable manner. There is increased strength and a greatly augmented power to resist disease."

Dr. Hobart Amory Hare, Professor of Therapeutics in the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, in his book "A Text Book of Practical Therapeutics," says: "Iron has little or no effect upon the system when given in a single dose, but repeated doses cause an increase in the number of red blood corpuscles, and plethora, or an increase in the quantity and quality of the blood."

ZIRON Iron Tonic, composed of pure iron salts, combined with the hypophosphites of lime and soda, and other valuable tonic and alterative ingredients—as specified on the label of every bottle—is not a patent medicine or secret remedy, but a perfected pharmaceutical preparation, of great value and genuine merit in the treatment of conditions due to lack of iron in the blood, such as are described above.

If you are weak, debilitated, lacking in energy, feel worn out and suffer from loss of appetite, dyspepsia, nervousness, irritability; if you are pale and wish to obtain the rosy cheeks that show the presence of iron in your blood, try ZIRON Iron Tonic, for ZIRON will furnish the iron that the impoverished system lacks.

Your druggist sells ZIRON in $1 bottles or can get it for you. Ask him about it today. If you have trouble getting it send us $1 and we will send you a bottle by parcel post prepaid.
